

Mississippi State University

Scholars Junction

College of Arts and Sciences Publications and Scholarship

College of Arts and Sciences

2021

Oral History with Mr. Charles Evans

Charles Evans

Kenya M. Cistrunk

Mississippi State University, kmckinley@socialwork.msstate.edu

Brian S. Williams

Mississippi State University, bsw63@msstate.edu

Follow this and additional works at: <https://scholarsjunction.msstate.edu/cas-publications>

Part of the Human Geography Commons, and the Social Work Commons

Recommended Citation

Evans, Charles; Cistrunk, Kenya M.; and Williams, Brian S., "Oral History with Mr. Charles Evans" (2021). College of Arts and Sciences Publications and Scholarship. 16.
<https://scholarsjunction.msstate.edu/cas-publications/16>

This Video Recording is brought to you for free and open access by the College of Arts and Sciences at Scholars Junction. It has been accepted for inclusion in College of Arts and Sciences Publications and Scholarship by an authorized administrator of Scholars Junction. For more information, please contact scholcomm@msstate.libanswers.com.

Oral History with Mr. Charles 'Lala' Evans recorded at his home in Starkville, Mississippi. Topics covered include Mr. Evans' life and occupations, the Needmore Community, and Urban Renewal Program, businesses, and community ties.

The Cultural Research & Engagement Fellows (CREF) Program at Mississippi State University explores the social and cultural dimensions of food systems, food access, land in majority-Black, historically agrarian rural communities by engaging youth at the nexus of food access, farming, and culture. The CREF program is made possible by a grant from the Office of Research & Economic Development (ORED) and the Office of Institutional Diversity and Inclusion (OIDI) at Mississippi State University.

ORED/OIDI Research to Advance Inclusion, Diversity, Equity and Access grants program.