Dear Misses: I have been thinking for quite a while that I would like you is regard to a matter, that has given me much thought for the past few months, and that is, when shall I do with my boys, (James and Gordon), as regards their further schooling - They finished here last term, and could not be advanced further - Could only review - My idea is that they should be placed at some good high school or Academy - I have received several Catalogues of such schools, but have made no selection - No one realizes more than I that times are hard, money very scarce and hard to make. But I have the idea so fully fixed in me to give my my children an opportunity to get an education, that I shall not hesitate to make almost any reasonable sacrifice that they might obtain it. - I feel sure there is nothing so vitally necessary, in this day and time, as essential to success as a good education. I don't mean a very high literary one, but a ^{thorough} practical one - I have had so many occasions to realize this. Now when I wish to ask you is this: Can not you, Douglas and my self agree upon some plan whenever we might be able to send mine along with Gordon? I can not think of sending my boy and leaving mine behind - Mine is a bright boy and with a chance will prove good. If he could be kept further along he could then teach or get a job of some sort and keep him self - But ^{that} ~~some~~ help, means that he will have very much -

I wish you would give this your careful consideration, and write me soon - I will frankly say suggestions you may wish to make this leaves all well - Hope you and Peter enjoy good health - We would be delighted to have you all come and see us and spend a while with us.
