New Book of the Month

Alternative systems for poultry : health, welfare and productivity by Victoria Sandilands and Paul M. Hocking, 2012. Call number: SF 494.5.A48 2012 <http://bit.ly/WxGZT4>

As interest grows in how poultry are housed and managed, commercial poultry keepers face increasing challenges in order to ensure profitability, sustainability and good levels of animal welfare. As the poultry industry continues to grow, change and modernize, new legislation bringing about legal requirements for housing is making the topic of alternative systems for poultry more pertinent than ever.

New Study Room

The CVM Library is pleased to announce the addition of a new study room! Like all of our study rooms, this one is ideal for solo or small group study. Any formal or informal group can reserve the study rooms during regular library hours—just visit the Information Desk of the library, or call Donna Bishop at 325-1260.
