WASHINGTON OFFICE

Mrs. [REDACTED]
Amory
Mississippi
March 17, 1972

The Honorable Mr. Stennis
The Senate
Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:

What is this that President Nixon is talking about? "More busing". The President stated, "I realize that my program will not satisfy the extreme social planners who insist on more busing even at the cost of better education.

Our politicians and Supreme Court has been brain washed by the most powerful organization in this country. The N.A.A.C.P. (Communism)

How many children in this country are already being bused for the purpose of intergration?, not education. Children mostly from the South.

What the President ask for is no More busing. He should have asked for all busing already in effect to be stoped when busing is used for the purpose of intergration.

I have been under the impression that Constitutional Amendments were voted on by the Congress. How can or how have we the American people stood by and let a bunch of senile or brain washed judges write our laws of the land to day. This is unconstitutional.

If nothing is done about those already being bused, I for one stand ready to have all judges, who voted for busing, impeached.

If one child is bused of his neighbourhood school for the purpose of intergration, then to be fair, lets bus all.

The President has not stated what the majority of the people want to hear. We want to hear no busing at all. We do expect to have good schools for all even if it is all black or all white or mixed.

Sincerely yours,
[REDACTED]

Dear Mrs. [REDACTED]:

I appreciate your comments on the President's message concerning forced busing of our school children.

Enclosed is a copy of my most recent Washington Report. On page two I have discussed my reactions and feelings about that message. I hope that you will find my statements helpful.

Again, my appreciation for your interest in this difficult problem.

With warm good wishes, I am

Your friend,

JOHN C. STENNIS
United States Senator
