March 20th. 1895.

To the Honorable Secretary of State,

Washington, D. C.

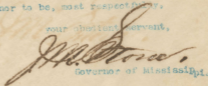

Sir:

In the event of a vacancy in the Consul Generalship at Havana, which has been predicted, I beg to invite your attention to the qualifications and merits of Honorable Wm. M. Inge, of Mississippi, who will be an applicant for the appointment at the hands of the President to fill the vacancy.

Col. Inge is peculiarly fitted for the service consequent upon such appointment. He is a good lawyer, a man of ability, always a Democrat, a man of integrity, and if appointed will serve the Government faithfully, efficiently, and, I believe, to the satisfaction of all concerned.

I have the honor to be, most respectfully, your obedient servant,

J. M. Stone,
Governor of Mississippi.
