Dear Sir

I recd your letter to day and was very sorry to read its contents I have seen my sister in law while she hates it very much neither she or I blame you in the matter as you had to do your duty Is it possible under the rules for you to give him another trial as he seems very penitent and says if shall never occur again his matter is so anxious for him to finish at your school and hopes if given another trial that he will obey all the rules. I hope my boy Claude has given you no trouble as he has always been very obedient let me know if he gives you the slightest trouble I have given him permission to come home on 23rd to stay until the following Thursday as he seems so anxious to see his mother and this is first time he has been away from us. Please let me know how Broder accounts stands as if he is any behind our record the and due yours

Dear Sir:

You can't imagine the sorrow Fred's home coming gave me. And after reading your letter informing me of the deed he had been guilty of, it was like piercing a dagger through my heart; such agony I have never suffered before.

It is so humiliating, to have my child act in a way to have to be sent home.

Am in hopes it will prove to be a good lesson for him.

I enclose a note from him, he seems very sorry, and was led into it by older boys.

I do hope you will give him another trial, and allow me to send him back after Christmas. He has no father, and it makes it doubtly hard for me to bear.
Please let me hear from you at once.

Very Respectfully
Mrs Lillie Jackson

Dear Sir:

I write this morning to apologize for disobeying the rules of your school. I am very sorry and if you will allow me to come back after Christmas I will promise ~~and~~ ^{to} try to do better.

Yours truly
F. J. Jackson

Agricultural College
Miss.

Dear Sir:

I am very sorry it is necessary for me to trouble you again, but Fred writes me that he is not satisfied and wishes to come home, he says the boys ~~to~~ ^{by} tease him about being sent home, and several other reasons. I don't care to notice any of them, for I wish him to stay there, I wouldn't have him come home if I can possibly help it.
There are some very bad associates here for him.

Will you kindly notice him and if he isn't trying to do any good there, let me know so I can send for him; am afraid he will try to act in a way to be sent home, and I feel that it is more than I can bear to pass through such a humiliating scene again. Of course I know it is your duty to enforce the rules of the school.

I appreciate your kind offer to talk to my boy, and sincerely hope it will have the desired effect.

Very Respectfully
Lillie Jackson
